MEDICAL INFORMATION AND ADVISORY

The Basic Law Enforcement Training program is physically and mentally demanding. The course has been derived from a comprehensive task analysis of the basic patrol officer functions and provides realistic training designed to provide the knowledge and skills necessary to perform essential patrol duties.

All materials that are included in the state mandated examination and the Police Officer Physical Abilities Test (POPAT) are derived from this task analysis.

Students are advised that they must be able to demonstrate that they can perform all the essential tasks of an inexperienced patrol officer in a timely and safe manner. Training activities are physically demanding including requirements for strength, agility, endurance, flexibility, hearing, visual acuity, and an ability to demonstrate good judgment. Also, several course activities that may challenge some participants include exposure to riot control gas, subject control techniques, physical conditioning, etc. Participants are advised that they must complete Commission-required forms truthfully and completely. Willful falsification of any Commission-required form may very well lead to denial or revocation of certification.

It is also recommended that the participant review their existing medical insurance coverage. Injuries in BLET are not uncommon but they are usually limited to sore muscles and joints due to lack of exercise; however, prudent participants will want to ensure that they have coverage for major injuries, which are very rare but possible.

SATISFACTORY HEALTH DOCUMENTED BY A NORTH CAROLINA PHYSICIAN IS MANDATORY FOR ACCEPTANCE INTO THE PROGRAM!

This documentation will be accomplished by completion of the following two forms:

MEDICAL HISTORY STATEMENT

{Form F-1} Total of 4 pages

This form needs to be completed and signed by the applicant and given to the physician at the medical examination. The physician must review this form and then sign on the back in the space provided.

PRE-BLET PREPARATION FOR PHYSICAL TRAINING

Physical Fitness Training (PT) in the BLET program at South Piedmont Community College meets or exceeds all guidelines set forth by the North Carolina Criminal Justice Training Standards Division. Physical training will consist of running, calisthenics, weight training and job-related activities. It is strongly recommended that prospective students begin a physical training program on their own prior to entering BLET. Adequate preparation will reduce your risk of injury and make your transition to BLET life less stressful.

Physical Fitness Training will consist of one hour of training per day, 3 days per week. There will also be three Fitness assessments and three Police Officer Physical Agility Tests (POPAT). Each student must successfully complete the POPAT on the final attempt to successfully complete BLET and be allowed to sit for the State BLET Examination.

Below is a list of typical training activities during PT:

Physical Training Activities:

- . Warm-up: general calisthenics such as jumping jacks
- . Stretching: Head to toe static stretching (5 Minutes)
- . Calisthenics: Push-ups (3 sets of 15-20) Sit-ups (3 sets of 20-30)
- . Running: 3 miles, group formation, approximately 9 minutes per mile pace
- . Cool Down: Walk and head-to-toe static stretching

A prospective student's training prior to BLET should consist of the following:

- Running 4-5 days per week for 30 minutes (it is highly recommended that each student purchases a good pair of running shoes in order to avoid injury)
- Push-ups and sit-ups 5 days per week until able to accomplish amount described above
- Weight training emphasizing upper body strength 3 days per week
